

ABSTRACT

[015] The present invention comprises a pair of circuits (171, 172) within the first stage (100) of an AC signal pre-amplifier. The present invention reduces the current mismatch at the base of the first stage transistors (141, 142, 143, 144) resulting in faster switching times by reducing input stage offset and, hence improving input dynamic range.